

Privacy information

Why is my information collected?

Information is collected in order to contact you if you are a customer concerning an order placed, a query or for feedback on the service.

For example in order to send an image we would need a physical or electronic address or platform to send it on.

We also collect information so we can prepare for your event and clarify important information. We do not collect sensitive information such as card details, or social security numbers.

Where is the information stored?

On secured servers from Wix or Gmail.

We are a paperless office and paper work is usually scanned and destroyed.

Do Blaqpix share information?

Only with manufactures when a product is ordered that needs to be produced by a third party. The postal services may also have personal information on your name and address as they will deliver your product.

Information is not shared or sold to third parties.

On social media we may credit a model, to which a release form would have been signed or consent given.

Can my information be deleted?

It is important to keep records of transactions for auditing purposes.

We collect the minimal amount of information. If you feel we hold information that is not deemed essential to possess you are within your right to request a deletion of the information.

You may also request a copy of information kept with no charge.

Information kept can also be amended.
